

World Mission Bingo

We are excited to introduce a new challenge for your students! This game is part of our supplemental materials and can be used at any time. We suggest including this challenge with the first lesson so your students can compete over the course of the entire program. Have fun coming up with competitions or prizes for your students as they complete challenges and win rounds of Bingo!

The content in this grid was put together to engage older students as some of the challenges are better suited for a more mature audience. Please see suggestions below for younger age groups.

INSTRUCTIONS:

Students are asked to see how quickly they can accomplish the instructions in five of the boxes to create a Bingo. Some of these challenges include spending time in prayer over a specific topic, reading a book, and becoming actively involved with a ministry. Feel free to make any changes to better suit your class.

MIDDLE SCHOOL SUGGESTIONS:

Challenge Cards: Instead of using the complete grid with your class, pick out individual challenges and write them down on cards. These cards could be focused on prayer, reading through books of the Bible, or volunteering. Students could then draw from the cards in class and work on them from home.

Current Events: Read the latest updates from Mission Network News (mnnonline.org) and print out appropriate articles for your students. Each article includes information about the featured country and specific ways to be praying. This could be a great way for students to learn about what's happening around the world while actively engaging in prayer.

Educating Others: World Mission is a Directing Member of the Alliance for the Unreached. Their recent initiative is called A Third of Us. This movement involves drawing their "tribal mark" on your hand to spark conversations about how a third of us in the world today do not have access to the Gospel. Visit their website (athirdofus.com) to learn more about the tribal mark and consider having your class participate for a day.

If you have other fun ideas or suggestions, we'd love to hear them! Please reach out to our team and pass along your suggestions.
